CHARACTER ADORNING CALLING

As Seen In The Life Of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Theme of Baccalaureate Sermon Delivered Sunday Night by Rev. C. D. Strother.

The school auditorium was packed to the brim last Sunday evening, the occasion being the baccalaureate services in honor of the graduating class of the Lancaster High School. A program of unusual interest had been previously arranged and was greatly enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to get in.

Rev. C. D. Strother of the local Baptist church delivered what is thought by many to have been one of the best sermons of this character, heard here for many years. He took as his theme the character of Robert E. Lee, with which he adorned his calling, and among other things said: "Character and calling should match each other. Character is the voice that sings the song, calling is the accompaniment on the instrument. Every person should learn to combine the two in a beautiful harmony."

The following things are necessary in order that calling may match character and character adorn calling. I state these qualities in the form of practical admonitions for ourselves.

1. Fall into God's plan for you. As a picture fits its frame, or a bird fits its nest, so the greatly successful life fits into God's plan for it. God has a definite program for you to carry out, a niche for you to fill, a task for you to face, a life for you to live. If you are to make the most of your life your career must obey a divine impulse.

2. Believe with all your heart that you can fulfill your calling and also please God. Every human life should obey two laws; the law of earthly duty, and the law of obedience to God.

3. Accept the conditions of your life with cheerfulness. Even though we suffer defeat ever and anon in the battles of life, let us not be discouraged, for manhood, bravery, Christian character are often revealed through defeat as they may never have been revealed through victory.

4. Do with might what your hands find to do. Many a person in life has failed not from lack of ability, but from the lack of concentration. The whole world is witness to the tremendous power of this element of concentration.

5. Adorn your calling by Christian character. We can use calling to degrade character, or use character to glorify calling. Lee's life was not stained by contact with corruption. The inspiration of his life was from above, not below. The impulses to action were from within, not without. The ideal of his life was future, not past. He looked up and not down; in and out; forward and not backward. I trust that may be true of each of you.

Every person is called to be a saint. A saint is a person, not necessarily a parson, set apart to duty, consecrated to God and right, grappling with his foes, doing his work, enduring hardship, climbing the rugged hill of manhood, or womanhood as the case may be, with the eye fixed on an eternal goal. That is your supreme calling.

Let us now observe a few traits of Lee's character, with which he adorned his calling. His courage, his magnanimity, his idealism I need not dwell upon. A few things I name briefly.

(1). The first is his self-restraint. This appears in the quiet poise and balance always manifested in his hearing. In the absence of false pride in the hour of victory. In the sweetness of his spirit in defeat. In the quiet self-respect and dignity which marked his conduct after the war. No life can be very great or very successful without self-restraint. The greatest victory you can win is the victory over self.

(2). Tenderness was another element of his character. He had a tender and loving heart. This was also true of Henry W. Grady, the South's greatest orator. The world needs big hearted, great hearted, tender hearted men and women.

(3). I call your attention to just one other trait of his character—his fidelity to duty. It swayed his life in sovereign power. He deplored the Civil War and yet buckled on his sword and fought because he believed it to be his duty.

Trust God and do right is the supreme lesson of Lee's life. Young

INFORMATION

About Summer Training Camp For Civilians At Camp Knox, Ky.

Opportunity for a month's vacation at the expense of the United States Government is afforded the boys and young men between 16 and 35 years of age in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia, comprising the Fifth Corps Area. This vacation will combine the advantages of healthful outdoor exercise with the benefits of military discipline, drill and field maneuvers under the instruction and supervision of officers of the U. S. Army.

Uniforms will be issued free of charge as well as all necessary military equipment. Those attending the camp will be quartered in barracks. Good shelter is thus assured. The food will be wholesome and nourishing. Recreation is also provided for and it is planned to have numerous games and athletic contests after drill hours. In the evening there will be band concerts and other entertainment.

The men and boys of the Fifth Corps Area are especially fortunate in being able to receive this training at Camp Knox, which is known throughout the country as the largest military reservation now being used. The terrain of the camp, with its valleys, hills and stretches of level ground make it possible to have field maneuvers, sham battles, etc., under conditions of actual warfare. It is the hope of the Commanding General of the Corps Area to have representatives from every section of the four states attend the camp.

Here is the procedure: Obtain an application blank from the chairman in your county, have a physician examine you and then get a character certificate from some public official. Forward all this at once to the M. T. C. A. headquarters, 1200 Lincoln Bank Building, Louisville, Ky., or to the Commanding General, Fifth Corps Area, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind. You will be notified in due time whether or not you are accepted for the camp. If you cannot obtain an application blank, write for one at either of the two addresses just given.

LANCASTER LOSES Richmond Boys Trim Local Team

By a score of 11 to 6 the Lancaster Town Team went down in defeat before the Normal Team of Richmond, on the local grounds yesterday afternoon. While we should like to have seen the score reversed, yet our boys put up a game fight, in view of the fact that eight scores had been put over the rubber by the opposing team in the first inning. A little piece of ill luck like this is capable of taking the "pep" out of an ordinary team, but not so with our boys, who seemed to rally and were able to run in six scores before the close of the ninth inning.

Richmond has a good team in the Eastern Normal, in fact about the best we have seen on our grounds this year. Better luck next time, boys.

Opening Ball.

The opening ball at Crab Orchard Springs will take place Wednesday evening, June 1st, and great preparations are being made for this annual event, when many hundred people are expected to be present.

More improvements have been added to this famous resort since last season and the prospects for a banner year were never brighter, says genial host, Col. J. S. Haselden.

men and young women of the graduating class of 1921, the secret of victory in your life as a whole, whatever be the defeats along the way, is to be found in taking God into your lives and making it your supreme calling to serve Him. Thus you shall conquer every foe, including the last enemy death.

"Ere, we do our heavenly best, a God must mingle in the game, There may be those about us, whom we neither know nor name, Felt within us, as ourselves, the powers of good, the powers of ill, Strewing balm or shedding poison in the fountains of the will, Follow light and do the right, for man can half control his doom, 'Till you see the deathless angel seated in the vacant tomb."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Launched At Banquet Table Where Over One Hundred Citizens Are Present.

LEXINGTON LENDS AID AND ADDS INSPIRATION.

One hundred and twenty-five tickets were sold for the banquet that was given at the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse last Thursday night, preparatory to the launching of a Chamber of Commerce, for Lancaster and Garrard county, and when all were seated, it was found that with only a half dozen exceptions, all who had purchased tickets were on hand.

Col. G. B. Swinebroad was the toastmaster for the occasion and did his work admirably, telling first of the objective hoped to be reached through the festive board. Three gentlemen from the Lexington Board of Trade very kindly accepted invitations to attend this banquet and offer every assistance possible toward its promulgation. Those attending being Messrs. Frank Jones, Steve Featherstone and Col. Sam Walton.

Toastmaster Swinebroad, called first upon Mr. Jones to explain in detail his plans, which has been so successful in starting similar organizations in other cities of the Blue Grass. His talk was interesting from start to finish and was warmly applauded at its conclusion. He told of the many advantages to be derived from such an organization and in order to make it a success from the start, it must have the hearty co-operation of all citizens and business men of the town and county and this must be backed by a good substantial fund to insure its complete success.

A constitution and suitable by-laws had been previously prepared and were then read by Prof. Paul Boyd, at the suggestion of the chairman. After its reading a motion was made and duly carried, that the document be adopted as read and with the motion the chairman was asked to appoint ten citizens to serve as an organization committee, which was done. This committee as named by the chairman is composed of the following: Sam Haselden, L. G. Davidson, W. O. Goodloe, W. A. Farnau, Chas. Thompson, A. D. Joseph, J. W. Elmore, Henry Moore, R. L. Elkin, John M. Farra, with G. B. Swinebroad as chairman.

A number of enthusiastic talks were made after the adopting of the constitution and by-laws, all endorsing the good work and promising personal and financial aid in furthering the movement. Those who spoke were Messrs. Featherstone, Sam Walton, Sam Haselden, J. S. Haselden, L. L. Walker, J. E. Robinson, E. B. Bourland, A. J. Manley, H. S. Hudson, L. G. Davidson, John M. Farra and others.

The organization committee named last Thursday night have had several meetings and have done some splendid work, preparatory to the work which is to come up next week, when a drive for memberships will be pushed. The rating committee has completed its work and a luncheon will be given at the Masonic rooms next Monday night, at which about fifty of the leaders in the movement will be on hand to receive final and further instructions from the organization committee.

It is hoped and believed that none will shirk this duty, thereby probably rendering everything void that has been accomplished up to this time and perhaps cause the downfall of this organization on which means so much in a financial way to Lancaster and Garrard county.

A Good Day

At Fairview

The special day at Fairview last Sunday was enjoyed by a large crowd from the beginning of Sunday school in the morning until the benediction in the afternoon. The large house was well filled both morning and afternoon. The pleasure of the day was greatly increased by the solos of Bradley Kincaid a Fairview boy, who has been attending Berea College for several years. "Bradley" is a fine young man and a splendid singer and the people of Fairview are always glad to have him back. Bro. Frank Tinder, of Kirksville, a former pastor was present for the afternoon service and conducted the special service for the officers of the church in the afternoon. "Bro. Frank" is greatly loved by the people of the community and his presence added to the joy of the occasion. Bro. Ramsey, pastor of the church at Manse, was present and took part in the program of the afternoon. The principal speaker of the afternoon was Rev. E. B. Bourland, of Lancaster. He delivered a very fine and appropriate message, which was highly commended by the people present. The thought that prompted the observing of these special days at "The Grove" and at Fairview was to cause the people to realize what church membership means and to inspire them to give the Lord Jesus Christ a more vital place in their thoughts and affections. If they have served even in a small way to bring about this worthy aim, those who have contributed to these services are satisfied.

The church is of God. It was organized for the purpose of carrying forward the work of His Kingdom, but if a member constantly stays away from His House, the work of the Kingdom is hindered to that extent, so my brother, if you are one of the number who never darken the doors of the church surprise yourself and the people by being present next Sunday. We desire the attendance and co-operation of every member of the Church on that day. Do not fail to be present promptly at 9:45 for Sunday School and preaching services at eleven.

Judge Hardin Undergoes Operation For Carbuncle.

Circuit Judge Chas. A. Hardin, of Harrodsburg, underwent an operation yesterday for carbuncle. A telephone message from his bedside this morning said that the operation was successful and that Judge Hardin is getting along as well as could be expected. On account of the Judge having diabetes his friends are uneasy about him, but unless he has a backset he will soon be out again. Judge Hardin's many friends are hoping that he will soon recover. A special term of the Boyle Circuit Court was called for this week, but on account of Judge Hardin's illness the term will not be held.—Danville Advocate.

WONDERFUL WORK

Being Accomplished For Eye Sufferers

THROUGH UNITED STATES PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

Red Cross Co-operating

Under the directions of the United States Public Health Service, and with the co-operation of the State and County Board of Health, and the untiring assistance of Miss Westover, our local Red Cross nurse, eye sufferers of Garrard county are being treated at a free clinic, which began at the court house last Tuesday morning and will continue through until Friday morning.

And in addition to the above, we must say that the work is also being aided and assisted in every way by all the physicians of the county.

Dr. J. E. Edwards, the local health officer, has been unusually busy and to him is much credit due for the interest manifested by the profession.

Dr. C. E. Downs, of the United States Public Health Service, is at the head of the work, assisted by Dr. Chas. B. Kobert, formerly of Lebanon, but now with the State Board of Health of Kentucky and a director of the Bureau of Trachoma. Three trained nurses were also sent here by the department, they being: Mrs. Snedaker, Public Health nurse; Miss Cochran, Public Health nurse; and Miss Lang, U. S. Public Health nurse.

That the clinic has been a success in every way, is due mainly to the splendid work of Miss Westover, who for weeks past had promises from these patients and the importance of their presence at these clinics, every one of them seeming to have the utmost confidence in her work, as their presence here during the week shows.

The main object of the clinic is to observe the cases of Trachoma, which seems so prevalent all over the country, and which the health authorities are trying to exterminate. This disease is said to be almost the oldest germ in existence, caused by a germ, yet the germ has never been discovered. It is said that history tells us that Napoleon Bonaparte brought the first case to Europe, when he returned with his army from Egypt.

It is commonly called "granulated lids" and effects the lids, by early symptoms of small pimples appearing on the underneath side.

Of the 110 cases examined Tuesday, 34 were found to have trachoma, some in mild form, others being old cases. Most of these cases were operated upon Tuesday and yesterday, Dr. Downs performing, assisted by local physicians and Dr. Kobert. The jury room of the court house is being used as an operating room, the other rooms of the building, are occupied with cots, where patients are kept until able to return to their respective homes.

The ladies of the various churches are serving lunches to all patients and their families, having fed 150 for lunch last Tuesday and about one-half that many yesterday. The clinic will probably be concluded tomorrow.

This is the third clinic held in the state this year, one just being held at Harboursville and the other at Manchester. The visiting physicians and all nurses are enthusiastic with their praise, for the co-operation shown by the citizens and in fact all the people of the county, in trying to eradicate this dreadful disease, which seems so prevalent over the entire country at this time.

The cots and other equipments, necessary in a clinic of this character, is furnished by the U. S. Red Cross Mission, having three full equipments, now ready for service in the state.

Into Second Class.

Growth of the postal receipts in Lancaster, has caused this office to be raised from the third class to the second class, same to take effect July 1st. Postoffice inspector, Clarence Coleman, has been in the town recently and in checking up our local office, very promptly said he would advise that such a step be taken by the postal authorities at Washington. All clerks in the office will now be placed in the civil service status. The classification of third class offices are raised only when the receipts reach $8,000 a year and less than $10,000.

Precautions Necessary To Control Wild Onions.

Wild onions are so troublesome and expensive on the farm that the farmer whose fields are free from cannot afford to neglect and precautions to keep them free, according to E. J. Kinney, of the Soils and Crops Department of the College of Agriculture. When wild onions become established the difficulty of eradication is so great as to make the attempt almost hopeless.

Because of the trouble which it has caused this weed has now come to be recognized as the worst pest with which the farmer has to contend. When it is present in the pasture land it is practically impossible to produce milk products fit for use and in many sections of the State wild onions are preventing the development of a profitable dairy industry. They are equally as troublesome to the small grain grower for wheat infested with wild onions must be sold at a greatly reduced price. The only way they can be kept out of the grain is to go through the fields before harvest and cut out the seed heads.

Straw, hay or manure purchased from infested farms are common sources of infestation and for this reason it is important that extreme care be taken to see that there are no onion bulbs present. Shipped hay or straw also should be carefully examined for onions.

Experiments which have been conducted for some time on the eradication of the wild onion show that orchard heating oil when sprayed on the tops of the onions will kill them. Small patches of the weed may be destroyed by digging up the bulbs and marking the spot which should be watched since some bulbs are liable to remain in the ground.

CEDULAS AT STORMES DRUG STORE

MATCHMAKING

"NOW that Miss Favorite is coming to spend a few days with us, I think I'll invite Charles Augustus Terwilliger to dinner," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "I have always thought they were intended for each other, and they should be better acquainted."

Every time you see an old maid you turn green with envy, and you have told me a million times that a woman sacrifices her liberty and independence the minute she inveigles a man to the altar, and vows to love, cherish and protect him. You have said in my presence that the spinster is the only woman who is her own boss.

"It doesn't take the ingenuity of a Sherlock Holmes to deduce from your remarks that you consider matrimony a total loss. Why, then, Mrs. Jamesworthy, are you forever trying to beguile your friends into that condition of misery? Of course, you can't explain; neither can any woman explain. Matchmaking just comes natural to all of you."

"When I am looking for all kinds of plain and fancy trouble, I'll begin matching up the young men and women of my acquaintance. But not until I am suffering for an invoice of grief. I might persuade my friends to invest in a western silver mine, or buy patent rights in a revolving churn, but you'll never see Elijah Jamesworthy boosting matrimony in your indiscriminate way. If two young people got married through your ring generalship, and they found that each had drawn a gold brick, they would hate you as long as they lived, and would always speak of you as an old busybody with a nose too long for legitimate purposes, and they'd make faces at you whenever you met them on the street."

"Do you ever think of your responsibility when you try to boom the orange blossom market? Does it ever occur to you, at such times, that you are rushing in where angels fear to tread?"

"Now, just consider Sarah Jane Favorite and Charles Augustus Terwilliger, who will be railroaded to the altar if you have your way. I admit that they make a handsome pair. Sarah is a blonde with a pug nose, and Charles Augustus is a brunette with a nose like a Roman senator. They afford a pleasing contrast. But appearances count for little, Mrs. Jamesworthy, when the real business of married life begins."

"Sarah has basked in the lap of luxury all her days, and she has the idea that money grows on vines like cucumbers. I don't suppose she ever knew what it means to need fifty cents or a dollar. When she wants anything she goes to the store and gets it, and has it charged to her father. If there is one word in the dictionary she isn't familiar with, that word is retrenchment."

"Charles Augustus on the other hand, had hard sledding all through his boyhood. As a result of his experience he has an exaggerated idea of the value of a kopeck. He is the sort of man who will walk eight miles through a thunderstorm rather than cough up carfare. Whenever he parts with a nickel he has to take a bromo-seltzer to steady his nerves. His reverence for money increases every day, and it will keep on increasing as long as he lives."

"Yet you, Mrs. Jamesworthy, in your feeble-minded matchmaking enthusiasm, would use your vote and influence to join these two people in the holy bonds. Just take the advice of your awaybacked husband, and let such people work out their own destinies, and everybody concerned will be happier."

"ROOSTER WEEK"
Is Farewell One For Many Chanticleers.

With a premium price placed on them and farmers and poultrymen educated to the losses which they cause in fertile eggs during the summer months, many Kentucky roosters are expected to make their last crow before May 28th, according to announcements coming from the Poultry Department of the College of Agriculture. "Rooster Week" which starts May 23rd, and ends May 28th, has been set aside as a special time which farmers have been asked to kill, confine or sell all male birds in their flocks in order to stop the losses.

More than 20 produce farms with many branch houses in the State have agreed to pay a two to three-cent premium per pound on roosters marketed during that week in order to co-operate in the movement to eliminate the annual $950,000 loss caused by male birds running in the farm flock during the summer months. The State Board of Health will also co-operate in the movement and will distribute circulars on the care and handling of eggs in addition to seeing that all State rules in regard to the candling of eggs are enforced.

Roosters are unnecessary in the poultry flock during the summer months, the specialists state, because the breeding season has ended and fertile eggs are not needed. In addition the hens lay just as well without roosters in the flock. When male birds are allowed to run with the hens fertile eggs are produced and these spoil rapidly during warm weather and are discriminated against on the market.

Experiments have been shown that they are unfit for food after 24 hours in summer weather while infertile eggs may be placed in an incubator at 103 degrees and left for seven days after which they may still be used for food.

Wm. Barnes, San Antonio, Tex., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is undoubtedly the best cough remedy in the world. I know this is so because I found it to be so. Actual experience taught me. Someone advised me to try Foley's Honey and Tar and I began taking it that night. I have now completely recovered and do not cough at all."

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awaken, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys and calls for prompt treatment. The best recommended remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Profit by this nearby resident's experience:

Mrs. J. S. Good, Logan St., Stanford, Ky., says: "A constant backache brought me down so I couldn't do my housework. I couldn't get relief day or night and at times I could hardly move. I had nervous headaches and the action of my kidneys caused me much annoyance. My limbs and feet were swollen and so sore I could hardly stand. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Good had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

As the pastor of the Baptist Church, Rev. Skaggs was suddenly called away last Saturday by the serious illness of his father, Rev. Ramsey, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Manse and Rev. Young, pastor of the Methodist church very kindly took charge of the Devotional Exercises. The services were opened by a march played by Miss Christine Rucker. Trouble Threatened By Parasites In Hogs.

Examinations conducted by the Veterinary Department of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station have shown that a number of hogs from different herds are infected with common round worms and other parasites indicating that these will give hog raisers considerable trouble during the coming summer, according to members of the department, who have suggested that farmers make preparations to control the trouble when it occurs in their herds. Santonin and oil of Chenopodium have been found to be the two remedies which are particularly effective in controlling the parasites.

Pigs affected with internal parasites show an unthrifty condition, fail to develop properly, become pot-bellied and sometimes cough. Indications of these kind are a wearing and as they appear one pig should be sacrificed and a post mortem made to determine the nature of the trouble. If parasites are found the prescribed remedies should be applied immediately. Before medicine is administered to the pigs they should be starved for 24 hours. No feed should be given them for 12 hours following the treatment.

Pigs affected with internal parasites and treated with the medicines should be confined in small pens in order that all loose dirt may be scraped up and removed and the ground thoroughly sprinkled with air-slaked lime to kill the parasites and prevent their spread.

Diplomacy might be aptly described as a combination of dignity and duplicity.

OLD HATS
Made New By Simple
Methods.

By the use of a few simple methods many women will be able to renovate their hats worn last summer and make them suitable for another season, according to Miss Irene Piedalue, field agent in clothing from the College of Agriculture who has made a number of suggestions as to methods.

"A hat which has become limp with dampness may be restored by pressing it with a warm iron over a damp cloth," said Miss Piedalue. "A white straw or leghorn hat may be bleached by washing with soap and lukewarm water after which it should be well brushed with oxalic acid solution or a paste of lemon juice and sulphur. If the oxalic acid forms bubbles when poured on a clean white pine board it is too strong for use and should be diluted. If the straw is brittle and soap and water cannot be used on it, it should be well brushed before using the oxalic acid and rinsed with clean water afterwards. The hat may be dried by covering it with a cloth and pressing with a warm iron or placing it in the sun.

"Black straw hats may be cleaned with a piece of velvet which has been dipped in gasoline. If it is still not black enough after this process is finished it may be dyed with commercial dyes. Colored hats may be cleaned and colored in the same way. Most commercial dyes come in dark shades and may be diluted by the use of a neutral liquid. A straw hat may be reshaped by dampening the brim and bending it to the shape desired. "Faded flowers which are soiled should be cleaned first by shaking them in gasoline after which water colors and oil paints mixed with gasoline may be used to tint them. If the whole flower is to be colored it may be dipped in the bowl of coloring after which the center may be painted a darker shade with a camel's hair brush. The edges of the petals may be tinted by dipping them in a bowl of less dilute coloring matter. The flowers may be dried by placing a weight on the stems and allowing them to hang from the edge of a table or shelf. The appearance of the flowers is improved by trimming off all frayed edges.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports that the following is a part of what was accomplished last year in this county under the supervision of the home demonstration agent: A great many vegetables new to the community were tried out, such as Swiss chard, Chinese cabbage, asparagus and celery, and fruits like ever-bearing strawberries, rhubarb, garden lemons, and other varieties not previously raised. These were grown successfully. Grapes, peaches, plums, apples and apricots have been planted by many people who had not thought these fruits would grow in their county. This is a dry-land section where practically no attention has been given to the home garden.

Everything tried, and given proper attention, brought good results. Some failures were reported, due to lack of moisture and lack of care. Reports also showed that, besides all that was used fresh on the table, from 25,000 to 50,000 quarts of vegetables and fruits were canned in this county last year.

AVOID DODDER INFESTATION

Farmer Should Use Plants Known to Be Immune to Attacks of Pestiferous Weed.

The necessity of selecting plants immune to dodder infestation when cultivating newly cleared land was emphasized by a report which recently reached the United States Department of Agriculture concerning the destruction of an entire field of eggplant on a newly cleared field in Pennsylvania. So bad was the infestation that not a single fruit was formed on the parasitized plants and the entire field was destroyed. The dodder was determined as hazel dodder, a species not uncommon on hazel and other wild shrubs and on tick trefoil and other wild herbs, but never previously reported on cultivated plants. The department recommends that on land known to contain the seeds of dodder, farmers should use plants which are immune to attacks of the pest. The following plants are not susceptible to injury by dodder; corn, soy beans, velvet beans, cowpeas, and small grains such as oats, wheat, and rye. Potatoes and buckwheat, crops commonly used on newly cleared land, are not very likely to be injured by dodder, but truck crops should not be planted on land known to contain dodder seeds.

GOOD COLLAR IS ESSENTIAL

Every Farmer Should Plan to Prevent Sore Necks and Shoulders of Work Horses.

Now that the busy season is here, every farmer should make a careful examination of the supply of horse collars on hand and see to it that he has a good fitting collar for every horse he purposes to put to work. Sore shoulders and sore necks on farm horses are generally caused either by collars that do not fit or by harnesses that are not properly adjusted.

CAREFULLY SAVE DROPPINGS

Either Use for Fertilizer or Dispose of to Persons Who Can Make Good Use of Them.

No matter how small the flock the droppings should be carefully saved, stored, and either used as fertilizer for plants or disposed of to persons who can so use them to increase the fertility of the soil.

Washington's Religion.
There has been considerable controversy over the extent to which religious belief entered into Washington's character. His own chronicles show that most of his Sundays, except during the presidency, when he felt obliged to set an example, he spent in answering letters, going over his accounts, hunting or doing any business that those with whom he was negotiating had no scruples. In choosing people to work for him he set up no barriers of creed, judging men from the standpoint of honesty, industry and ability.

THE U. S. CHAIN TREAD
One of the few tires of which it may be said that they deliver economy year in and year out and tire after tire.
The U. S. Chain Tread gives sufficient traction on all ordinary road surfaces. It is probably the handsomest, and by all odds the most popular, of the whole U. S. Fabric Tire line.

U. S. Tires

Economy rides on U.S. Tires—

IF you could get together all the car owners you know, you'd probably find that their tire experiences had been much the same.

Most of them have taken their fling at "job lots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks." Soon or late, nearly all settled back on quality first as the one sound assurance of tire value.

As soon as a man forgets the cut-price tag, and comes to the dealer who concentrates on a full, completely sized stock of U. S. Tires—he learns what it means to get fresh, live tires—not once in a while but every time.

Not merely in the big cities, but in his own home town.

Not merely for the heavy car, but for the medium and light-weight car—a full selection of size, tread and type.

Your U. S. Tire dealer can give you this service because of the service he gets from his neighboring U. S. Factory Branch. There are 92 of these Branches. Each gets its share of U. S. Tires, so that the dealer is always supplied with fresh, live stock.

U. S. Tires sell as fast as they are made.

There is no over production. No surplus piled up waiting for a "market."

Wherever you buy a U. S. Tire—you buy a tire of current production, as full of life and value as the day it left the makers.

Too Much Athletics.

Athletic sports appear to be about the most important thing in college life of the average young man of today.

If he doesn't go in for the round of sports he is apt to be termed a grubworm and find himself more or less isolated from the companionship of his fellows.

If he becomes an enthusiastic sportsman he is in danger of neglecting his studies to the detriment of his education and his future.

The promotion of athletics is desirable up to a certain point, but the tendency of the day is to ignore that point and go the limit, even to the sacrifice of educational proficiency in lines that are necessary in modern commercial life.

This is not an age when young men may learn to read and write and add and subtract and then go out into the world and compete for success.

Employers are becoming more exacting each day. They require something more than a football or a stroke record from their employees. They insist upon stability, common sense and an ability to "produce the goods."

There are many noted critics of our higher educational institutions of today, and these critics have little confidence in the ability of the average college graduate.

When shrewd employers
 place a value of $10 a week upon the services of young men just out of college there would seem to be something wrong with the system under which these young men have been trained.

Too much athletics may become as detrimental to the individual as none at all.

$25,000,000 For What?

What are we going to get out of that $25,000,000 this government is to pay the government of Colombia?

By consenting to this payment we tacitly admit that this government was in a measure instrumental in the secession of Panama. It is within this seceded territory that Goethals performed the greatest engineering feat of history by constructing the Panama canal,
 which we own.

Central and South American republics are never quite at ease regarding the United States. There is always a lurking suspicion that we entertain ulterior designs toward them, with the possibility of extending the folds of the American flag to cover the entire continent at some future day.

But we have no such intentions. We have troubles enough of our own without assuming those of an alien race whose habits, customs and inclinations are not in harmony with our own.

Is this government so great that it is willing to admit a mistake of the past and make restitution to the extent of $25,- 000,000?

Or is it a cold blooded effort to purchase that brotherly love that we all know does not exist?

Or what is it?

$25,000,000 is a lot of money. It means much to Colombia.

But where do we come in?

Do we simply cough up and forget, or is there a hidden string to the deal?

Scrapping Over The Fight.

It took five years to fight the world war. It was some fight.
 At the present rate of speed it will take twenty-five years to adjust the difficulties growing out of that war.

It may even become necessary to fight another war, with an entirely different lineup of nations.

Do not make the mistake of thinking that we have seen the end of all wars. We have not.

 It is nowhere in sight. We doubt if it is even seriously considered by the men who really control the affairs of Europe.

There was never more diversified bitterness and jealousy than there is in Europe today.
 Trust and confidence are unknown. Suspicion and hatred are everywhere.

The powerful allies are exasperated at the procrastination of Germany. They cannot even come to a lasting agreement among themselves.

In the meantime some of the little countries are happy in the enjoyment of another scrap.

The volcano is daily sounding the danger signal. It may break forth in eruption at any time.

We were drawn into the last war against our will. It is difficult to see how we can keep out of the next one.

In the meantime, is our powder dry?

Or have we any powder?

That Slacker List.

Including the names of valiant ex-service men among the list of slackers leads un-baised people to suspect that the persons who kept the records should head that list.

The lists sent out by the war department have been found to be so unreliable the press of the country hesitates to publish them until the record of each man has been carefully traced.

If the records of the war department and the draft boards have been so loosely kept as to be largely unreliable, then the editorial fraternity is quite justified in refusing to publish the names of alleged draft evaders until information can be supplied from a source that is dependable.

It is better to let a hundred guilty men escape than to publicly humiliate one innocent veteran.

700 Years And Still Fighting.

Ireland has been fighting intermittently for something like seven hundred years for freedom.

It has been a long fight, in the face of every possible discouragement and obstruction.

The Irish, like our own people of the original thirteen colonies, want the right to govern themselves. Some day they will have it.

Ireland in a constant state of turmoil, and with a huge army maintained to keep it in subjection, can be of but little value to England. But a free Ireland, with reciprocal trade relations, might be a profitable neighbor.

Certainly a people who have been "kicking up the dust" for seven hundred years will hardly remain quiescent as long as the same blood flows in their veins.

England might let go of her hot poker with distinct advantage to herself.

When the Lady Godiva, to alleviate the sufferings of her people rode through the streets of Coventry garbed only in her flowing hair, she required every inhabitant to remain in doors and keep the blinds closely drawn. She was modest. But those were ancient days, before the advent of modern society costumes and bathing beaches.

William J. Bryan hit the ball
 the other day when he declared that "no drunkard be appointed to enforce our prohibition laws because they cannot decide between their oath of office and their appetite."

KENTUCKY YOUNG PEOPLE'S CON- FERENCE

At Danville, Ky., June 10-16. By Rev.

W. A. Hopkins, Synodical
 Superintendent.

The Southern Presbyterian Church
 is aroused to the tremendous undeveloped resources of her young people for Christian service, and is making a determined effort to meet the needs, and to enlist the lives of her youth in definite world-wide service for Christ. One of the most fruitful means in developing the social, intellectual and spiritual nature of our young people is the Young People's Conference such as our Synod will conduct at Kentucky College for Women, Danville, June 10-16th.

The success of these conferences in providing a constructive program of wholesome recreation, religious instruction and deeply spiritual inspiration is unquestioned. The response of the young people in overcrowding every conference, their keen delight in every feature of the program and the direct results in their lives and in their influence in the local churches is most inspiring.
 Any one who has attended one of these conferences, or who has witnessed the results in the lives of those who have attended, will need no argument to awaken his interest and kindle his enthusiasm.

The purpose of this article is not to drum up large delegations for Danville, as the capacity limit of the conference buildings could easily be exceeded by large delegations from our Blue grass churches; but our purpose is to distribute delegations to all of the churches of our Synod so as to make the conference representative of our entire State. We desire to secure the co-operation of the pastors, sessions, Sunday schools, young people's and women's societies
 of our more distant churches especially in guaranteeing the presence of the most promising boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 24 of their local church.

Place And Program.

We are especially fortunate, not only in the ideal location of our conference, but also in the richness and the variety of our program. Kentucky College for Women, with its large and beautiful campus; its gymnasium, bowling alleys and swimming pool; its commodious dormitories, class rooms and dining hall and its splendid surroundings from a cultural, scenic, or historical standpoint leaves nothing to be desired. Equally as attractive are the features of our program, which provides for the most delightful and wholesome forms of recreation, the most capable and consecrated instructors of classes and conferences, and the most attractive and able addresses by men and women of national reputation.

Plan.

Appropriation of Synod's funds
 has provided for the actual expenses of the conference program; but incidental expenses necessitate a conference registration fee of $2.00 per delegate, and room and board for the week will cost $14.00. This expense, together with the cost of transportation, must be borne by each delegate, or by his local church or society. In order to reserve a room the registration fee of $2.00
 should be sent at once to Mrs. I. D.
 Best, Sayre College, Lexington, Ky.

Prayer.

Will you not join with us in prayer to God that this conference may be used of His Spirit in developing the character and moulding the lives of the youth of our Church into efficient servants of Him who died that we might have "life more abundantly?"

Some men who respect the law do not always observe it—when thirsty.

They're starting right with a De Laval

A DE LAVAL Separator starts you right because it provides a steady income the year around. There is no waiting for crops to mature before money is received;
 no long winter months with nothing to sell,
 when you have a few cows and a De Laval.

When you start right with a De Laval
 you have an assurance of a steady income, for every year as long as you want to use it.

And separator trouble is rare indeed among De Laval users. More than forty years of experience in building cream separators are back of the De Laval.

It skims closer, turns easier, has a greater hourly capacity and is easier to keep clean.
 In short, it is the most economical and most satisfactory separator that has ever been possible to buy.

We'll start you right with a De Laval that will pay for itself every year you use it.

Miss Francis Dixon Ball, daughter of Mrs. Anna Fazez Ball, of Maysville, of the present class graduating from Transylvania University and who for the past two seasons has been a student of the summer term of College of Physical Education, Harvard University, has been made one of the faculty for the coming session. This honor is especially gratifying to Miss Ball's friends, since out of a large number of student applicants, she and one other were accepted. Miss Ball leaves for Cambridge the first of July.

President T. J. Coates, of the Eastern State Normal was in Lancaster Wednesday completing arrangements whereby Superintendent Paul Boyd of the Lancaster schools will accept a position on the faculty of the Normal for the summer. Supt. Caner of Stanford will also teach at Richmond during the summer. Special summer schools have been organized in thirty-six counties, while the counties adjoining Madison will send their teachers to Richmond.

One of the prettiest social affairs of the season was the reception given by the Junior Class of the High school in honor of the Senior class, at the home of Miss Laverne Dickerson in "Hill Court." The beautiful home was lavishly decorated with spring flowers and the class colors of orange and black for the occasion, the porch transformed into a bower with ferns and quantities of yellow iris. Mrs. Harry McDougale, of Hamilton College, Lexington, was the guest for a day in town recently to see her mother, Mrs. Darnall and Mrs. Geo. Smith.

Mrs. J. E. Robinson entertained a few friends with a charming informal bridge party Monday evening at her home on Lexington avenue in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Todd. The tables were arranged on the porch, which had been artistically decorated for the occasion. Strawberries, ice cream and cakes were served after the enjoyable game. There were three tables of bridge. The party was the most delightful ones that has been given this season.

The class of 1921 gave a pleasing program to a large audience Tuesday morning at the school auditorium. The stage was beautifully decorated in drapes and flags of red and white, the class colors. The young girls wore white gowns with a touch of red. From the beginning each on the program held perfectly the interest of the audience. The following program was given:

President's Address—Clyde Holtzclaw
Class History—Martha Ward Sweeney
Class Poem—Mayme Stapp
Class Oration—Henry Moore
Class Grumbler—Lucille Sutton.
Class Will—Eugene Cochran
Class Prophecy—Ruby Mae Gastineau
Class Gifitarian—Virginia Beazley.

The music recitals given Saturday afternoon and Monday evening at the school auditorium were much appreciated by the audience. Each member displayed the skillful technique of very young pupils, the advanced students showing careful study in their interpretations. Mrs. Mae Hughes Noland always does fine work in her department and the recitals in which her pupils gave evidence of her splendid work showed. The numbers were all given in a way that evinced the most careful training and reflected honor upon the instructor and showed hard work by the pupils. Those taking part on the program were Misses Faye King, Margaret Elliott, La Verne Dickerson, Ann Evance Layton, Elsie Brown, Hazel Broadus, Margaret Scott, Shirley Denny, Johnetta Sanders, Judith James Daniels, Georgeta Walker, Mattie Mae Hubble, Elsie Hatfield, Marguerite Thompson, Nancy Tom Lear, Virginia Aldridge and Mr. Roger Bourland. Health Alphabet, given by the First Grade closed the program.

Earliest New England Dwellings.

It is generally thought that the first kind of dwelling built by the early settlers in New England were log cabins, but as a matter of fact, these pioneers often felt obliged to wait until after they had reaped their first harvests before they took the time to erect anything so durable and elaborate as a weather-tight cabin. Like the primitive people of southern Europe, like the Indians of Mexico, they used what caves they could find. But often they merely dug in, finding a shelter much as the armies in France did during the war.

The Iberians.

The Iberians were an ancient people living at the mouth of the Iberus (Ebro) river in eastern Spain. Later the inhabitants of the entire peninsula were called Iberians. The term now is applied to the primitive Neolithic and bronze-age men whose remains and relics are found in ancient graves and grottoes throughout western Europe. The race was characterized by long heads and short stature. The term Iberia still is frequently used in reference to Spain and Portugal, especially in literature, the expression Iberian peninsula being quite common.

It is a comfortable feeling to know that you have money in bank for your needs. Any person can have this feeling if they will do two things—work and save, and bank their savings. There's Safety in Silence.

People seldom find it necessary to apologize for saying too little.

They Resist Decay.

The northwestern Indians nearly always made their totem poles out of western red cedar, but this choice was probably due more to the fact that the wood is easy to work and extremely durable than to its fragrance. It may be taken as a very good general rule that woods that are scented are resistant to decay and insect attack, and have good cabinet qualities.—American Forestry Magazine.

Barbee's King is a beautiful rich golden chestnut with star and feather, sixteen hands high, weighs 1,200 pounds. I believe he has more style and finish than any young saddle stallion in the South. Has a neck of great length, the best natural tail of any stallion alive, great knee and hock action. Has been awarded fifteen first prizes at Georgetown, Cynthiana, Falmouth, Ewing, Paris, Lexington and Louisville Kentucky fairs. Barbee's King won first prize at the Columbia Horse Show for best five-gaited saddle horse, mare or gelding. When you consider size, breeding, with great individuality, no horse has a better right to sire horses for ring and park. Has proven himself a splendid sire of extra fine colts and all of them saddle naturally whether out of saddle bred mare or not. At $15.00. Will make the season of 1921 at my farm, one mile East of Stanford on the Crab Orchard pike. Will also stand two good mule jacks, which have proven to be great breeders, at $10.00.

At the same place will stand the famous Hubble and Eubanks' Jack, to serve Jennets only, at $25.00 for Jack colts and $12.50 for Jennets. Money to be paid when colts foaled. Will graze and care for rriars at $3.00 per month, but not responsible for accidents or escapes. Phone 117.

RAISE CHICKENS TO HELP INCOME

Excellent Means for Providing Needed Comfort and Home Beauty.

YOUNG WOMEN LEAVE FARMS

Home Demonstration Agents Exert Much Influence in Pointing Out Ways of Making Money or Producing Food for Family.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The service of the home-demonstration agent, who is supervised by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural colleges, is not confined to the house, but follows the woman into the garden, the poultry yard, and dairy to assist her in outside tasks when these contribute to home comfort.

Judgment as to relative values usually guide the home maker in determining the amount of outdoor work it is profitable for her to do either as a moneymaking scheme or as a means of producing food for the family table. Often when the woman lacks even small resources to bring needed comfort and beauty to the home, such industries as poultry raising and gardening provide the needed increase in income from which all the family may derive benefit.

It is poor business from every standpoint, however, if work out of doors means overstrained nerves and muscles resulting from an attempt to take on these duties without releasing any household tasks or if it means neglect of housework or sacrificing attention to children, thus lowering instead of increasing the standard of living.

Statistics show that young women are leaving the rural districts for the cities in larger numbers than young men. Where this is true, the influence of the home-demonstration agent has been most telling in helping young women to feel their economic importance in agricultural and home pursuits and in discovering ways of making incomes on the land equal to those that could be earned in shop or factory.

Work With Poultry.

Poultry work has been promoted in several states through demonstrations along lines of poultry selection, breeding, raising, feeding, housing, culling, canning, preservation of eggs, and co-operative selling of poultry products. Many flocks have been improved when farm women have found through culling demonstrations that 40 per cent of the average flock is nonproductive.

Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Missouri and Vermont, carried on intensive poultry culling campaigns in which the home demonstration agents played a prominent part. Schools of instruction were held so that those trained might not only eliminate their own nonproducing birds but teach their neighbors through community demonstrations.

In Missouri, 73,765 birds were eliminated from 1,593 flocks culled with an estimated saving of $50,161. In the co-operative buying and selling of eggs, 8 cents a dozen more was received than on the local markets.

Fewer Nervous Breakdowns.

Community working and trading centers mean much to rural women, not only from the standpoint of economy, time, money, and effort, but as a means of persuading the stay-at-home to walk through her gate and down the road to join her neighbors in some task which is made lighter through co-operation, and from which she returns refreshed and encouraged with new ideas and plans not only for her own housekeeping but for the larger housekeeping of her neighborhood. No amount of socialized work, however, takes the place of real recreation, as it looks too earnestly toward a finished result. Care-free recreation for the delight of the moment eases nervous tension, promotes good fellowship, and is as necessary for the mental and physical poise of men and women as it is for boys and girls. Home-demonstration agents, where no other agency is meeting this need, are co-operating with farm families in home and community recreation which includes games, chorus singing, dramas, and pageants.

Recreation Specialists. The extension department of the Montana state college, realizing the importance of this, employs a recreation specialist whose work is stimulating a fine social-community spirit in many localities in that state, where homes are so far apart. Montana is thus putting into practice a conviction that is growing everywhere—that, while it is their first business to promote efficiency, this should be looked upon as a means of stimulating a richer and more satisfying rural life by freeing the homemaker's time and energy so that she may give attention to the attractiveness and comfort of her home, the training and companionship of her children, the enjoyment of books and neighbors, and the building up of recreational, social, and educational life of her community. This will increase the percentage of active thinking women of service to society and reduce the percentage of passive slaves of routine, whose tasks cease only to begin again with a new day.

FAVOR PLASTER FOR FARM KITCHEN WALL

Most Common and Generally Satisfactory Material.

Mortar Must Be Properly Mixed and Applied to Prevent Development of Cracks and Blisters—Light Colors Are Best.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The commonest and most generally satisfactory material for the walls and ceiling of the farm kitchen is plaster. The mortar must be properly mixed and applied to prevent the development of cracks and blisters and injury to the surface finish. For the same reason freshly plastered walls should be allowed to dry thoroughly before the finishing surface is applied. Instead of plaster, some of the composition boards that do not warp may be used. They may be painted or papered and varnished, but before this is done nail holes should be filled with plastic filler made for the purpose. Steel wall and ceiling coverings are durable when they are kept well painted to prevent rusting by steam. Tile and vitrified brick, well glazed and matched, afford an excellent wall surface, but they are costly. Metal tiles are cheaper and nearly as satisfactory.

The most desirable finish for walls and ceiling is one that will not peel or crack and can be easily washed or very cheaply and readily renewed. A good oil paint gives general satisfaction; it can be brushed off with a dry wall brush or cleaned more thoroughly with a damp cloth and mild soap. Wall paper, unless varnished, is very easily loosened by the steam from cooking. A wall covering resembling oilcloth is somewhat more expensive, but it is more durable, and has a smooth washable surface. Water must be used very sparingly on a wall covering of this kind, for if it seeps in the seams the wall covering will become loosened.

The best color or tint for the kitchen walls is determined by the location and lighting of the room, say household specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Light colors are preferable for dark rooms because they reflect and diffuse the light into darker parts of the room, while dark colors absorb a much larger proportion of the light. Where the principal exposure is toward the south, greenish grays are desirable, but if toward the north or east, with little opportunity for sunshine, the light yellows or creams are better. Two shades of brown often give a satisfactory finish.

GIVE PLENTY OF VEGETABLES

Material Furnished to Growing Child for Forming Bone and Tissue—Mild Acids Helpful.

Vegetables and fruits are now considered a necessary part of the diet of the child. The reasons are many, but most of them may be summed up by saying that they furnish material needed to form bone and tissue and to regulate body processes. The mild acids which some of them contain help to prevent constipation; so, too, does the cellulose or fiber, especially when it is raw, though its value for this purpose may have been exaggerated in popular literature.

Green vegetables are also a valuable means of introducing into the diet mineral matters, particularly iron, in a form in which the body can utilize them. Even at city prices green vegetables have been shown to be an economical source of iron. Leaf vegetables, like spinach, beet greens, kale, etc., have recently been found to contain some of the growth-promoting substances that are found in milk.

All game should be soaked in salt water over night before cooking.

To prevent wool gloves from shrinking, put clothespins in the fingers while they are drying.

There is no better substitute for butter in cake baking than chicken fat. It may be used for any purpose for which butter is used except on bread.

Electric cooking devices that can be used at the table make the Sunday evening meal pleasant, and permit the serving of hot foods quickly and informally.

Constipation Causes Serious Ills

If you are its victim, try strengthening your digestive and eliminative organs with Nature's Remedy—it's better than laxatives.

NR Today—Keeps the Doctor Away

One of the world's greatest scientists says that more than 90% of all human ills can be traced directly or indirectly to constipation. How many sufferers realize this?

Most of them continually dose themselves with so-called laxative pills, calomel, oil, purges and cathartics and force bowel action. To do that is a mistake. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that constant dosing will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant, easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out.

And NR does this without a sign of griping, pain or unpleasantness. It works gently, but promptly and thoroughly. In a few days you notice the real result. You begin to feel that you are living again, with new strength, new energy, vim and pep and ginger. You soon find your bowels acting regularly without help. Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Best Grades Really Cheapest.

The purchase of a cheap grade of goods for any serious use, is very poor economy. Such goods soon give way, and the service they render, while they do last, is not satisfactory. To obtain a given amount of service one will spend more money on articles of cheap grade than upon those that are better. The obtaining of the same amount of pleasure and satisfaction from the use of a cheap thing and a good one is an impossibility.

Gold Mining Now Prosaic.

There is scant romance in gold mining today, when natural science has taken the place of pioneerism and chance. There is none at all in the recently published statement of a San Francisco magnate who announced that his workmen and expert geologists had blocked out $6,000,000 worth of ore in one Arizona mountain in the last two years, and that excavation and the production of bullion would now begin.

Matching Up Sable Skins.
In the critical eyes of the furrier there is a great deal of difference in skins of animals of the same species. For instance, it takes hundreds of sable skins to make a long wrap, and because the fur on the under side of the animal is always thinner than on top, the sides of the pelts must be tucked and sewn together in many small seams to give the fur a uniform thickness. A fur cloak costing thousands of dollars is entirely the work of experts.

Lord Alwyn's Bride

By MURIEL BLAIR.

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

Everybody on board the ship thought that Lord Alwyn and Signora Pasquale would be engaged before the vessel sighted Sandy Hook. Their acquaintance began at the captain's table on the first day; on the second, since the intermediate passengers were all sensible, Lord Alwyn took the chair next to the opera singer; thereafter they appeared to be inseparable. They had not much to say on that evening, for the realization of his love for the beautiful singer had come to the Englishman quite suddenly, and when it was too late to withdraw.

"You know I love you?" he began, as they walked slowly under the stars. "Yes, there was never any pretense between us. And our love should naturally end in marriage. Well—I am already married!"

"Let me tell you briefly the story of my life," he said. "When I was ten years younger I quarreled with my father. My elder brother was alive then; I had no hope or thought of succeeding to the title. I was sent to Colorado to a ranch. I was twenty-three, impressionable, hopeless for the future, and very lonely. Old Aaron Hopper, the ranchman who had undertaken my education in return for fifteen hundred dollars, had a daughter, a mere slip of a girl, good, sweet, pretty, and charming but hopelessly illiterate. To this day the sound of a concertina sets my heart beating. When I heard you sing 'My Old Kentucky Home' at the charity meeting—that was the first time we met, do you remember—the remembrance of those days come back to me as fresh and keen as ever. Well, we were engaged. We were wildly in love, in a boy and girl fashion. And we were to be married."

"The day before our marriage I received a letter from England. My father and brother were dead; both had been killed instantly in a train wreck. I was heir to the title and the family estates and fortune. In my elation I told Eva."

"I shall never forget the scene that occurred. How she refused to marry me at first. Finally I overcame her opposition and we were married the next morning, and Eva cried all through the ceremony."

"That night, when I came home, Aaron stood at the door, waving a letter, frantic with rage and humiliation. Eva had run away. I don't know what became of her. Detectives failed to find her. Old Aaron died cursing her and asking my forgiveness for having ruined my life."

"You did not want a divorce?" asked the woman softly.

"No. How could I? I knew that the brave little spirit that had given itself into my keeping was mine always; that I was morally responsible for her; if ever she appeared I should have taken her home and asked no questions."

He ceased and the woman withdrew her hand and placed it on Lord Alwyn's shoulder.

"Stop, dear!" she said. "Now look at me. I want to ask you a question. Do you love her as much as you love me?"

Lord Alwyn laughed rather bitterly. "I don't love her at all," he said. "And how much I love you you know. But, my dear, because I do not love her I feel my duty the more strongly. So I am going to try to find her—and so—"

"Good-bye," she whispered, and raised her lips to his. Then she was gone and he was alone in the starlight and with his sorrow.

Lord Alwyn spent three days in New York. He called on his detective agency, but they had learned nothing. Then he took the train for Colorado.

It was not until he reached the ranch that he came upon signs of cultivation.

Alwyn drew rein at the door, hitched his horse to the old post, and knocked. A woman opened it. It was Eva, dressed as a rancher's daughter, a rake over her shoulder, her hands dusty with hay, but Eva matured—No, it was not Eva. It was Alice Pasquale!

Lord Alwyn staggered against the door and his hands, groping feebly, found hers and held them.

"Do you know me now, dearest?" she whispered. "Have you found her again, this Eva, this ignorant girl?" "Alice!" he said, chokingly. "It is you? You are Eva?"

She placed her arms round his neck and drew his head down to her breast.

"You couldn't have known, dearest," she whispered. "It was cruel of me to try you so long. How could you have recognized the ignorant farmer's girl in Alice Pasquale, the singer, the Italian nobleman's adopted daughter? But I have waited for you so long, my dear!"

"When I left you that day it was with the resolve to claim you when I had become worthy of your love. I suffered in New York three years until I had acquired an education at night; then a woman engaged me as her companion to go abroad. She believed in my powers as a singer, she had me taught by the best masters; then Count Pasquale adopted me—and you know the rest. And every year I have come back as Alice Pasquale. I bought the ranch again. I come here during haying time—because I knew some day you would come back."

"Never to leave you, dear," he answered. "This is our honeymoon at last."

VACCINATION

Only Means For Hog Cholera Control.

Vaccination with anti-hog-cholera serum and hog-cholera virus coupled with sanitation is the only means of preventing and controlling hog cholera which gives indications of becoming serious in the State during the coming summer, according to Dr. W. W. Dimock, head of the Veterinary Science Department of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. The disease occurred in several communities during the fall of 1920 and has already broken out in several more during the past spring.

If suckling pigs in the herd are healthy and the premises are not infected, that is, were free from cholera the previous year, the animals need not be vaccinated until ten days following weaning at which time they should be given both the single and double treatment.

In case disease occurs in the herd or the farm is known to be infected with hog cholera suckling pigs should be vaccinated when they are about three or four weeks old with the single or double treatment. Ten days after weaning and before eight weeks have elapsed from the time of the first treatment the animals should be vaccinated with the double treatment. Advantages of treating the pigs soon after weaning are that they are light in weight and do not require as much serum as they would when they become larger. The possibilities of obtaining life-long immunity also are increased if the pigs are vaccinated at that age.

Before the treatment is applied the animals should be taken off heavy feed. No surgical operation should be performed until the pigs have fully recovered from the effects of the treatment.

Standard Bordeaux mixture is being used as the spray and the demonstrations so arranged that one plot will receive one spraying, another plot two sprayings, a third plot three sprayings and the fourth one all four sprayings recommended. The first spray will be applied when the plants are eight to ten inches high. The potatoes will be harvested and weighed under supervision of the department and the most effective means of spraying for the disease determined. J. B. THE country's oldest course in point of consecutive years of racing, Churchill Downs, opens for 1921 with the assurance of a memorable season.

Never before have there been so many horses of high class quartered at Louisville's historic course; seldom has interest in thoroughbred racing been so keen, and never, perhaps, has it been so wide-spread.

STRIKE IN PRINT PAPER MILLS

Reflected in Price Increase

Tieup Occasioned by Controversy Between Big Mills and Brotherhood Members Reduce Available Supply By Two Thousand Tons Per Day.

New York—The anticipated strike of the members of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers is on. It is stated here that more than 8,000 men engaged in the newsprint paper making industry are out, and the fear is expressed that the number of mills effected will increase and that the strike will be of long duration.

Among the companies whose plants are now closed are:

The Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company at International Falls, Minn.

The Fort Frances Pulp and Paper Company at Fort Frances, Ontario.

The International Paper Company with mills at twenty-two points in New York, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine and Quebec.

The Northern Paper Company at Cloquet, Minn.

The closing of the struck mills takes a total of 2,000 tons a day out of the news print production of the United States, and this has naturally had a serious effect upon the spot market price.

The twenty-five mills affected represent 30 per cent of the total newsprint production mills in wages for paper makers of from 20 to 30 per cent, and they say that they can get this wage reduction they cannot further reduce the price of print paper.

Country publishers are again between the mill stones as they were just one year ago. No county paper can possibly carry enough stock to last several months and protect themselves against a paper shortage or meet a strike situation as at present.

Christian Church Notes

The newly elected officers of the Christian Church will be ordained next Sunday morning. H. W. Elliott, State Secretary of the Kentucky Christian Missionary Convention for over thirty years will deliver the sermon and conduct the ordination. Mr. Elliott is widely known over the State and greatly beloved. His friends here will be glad to see and hear him again. The ordination will be simple but impressive and the friends of the newly elected officers and the public in general are invited to be present.

Mr. Little, the District Field Worker of the Christian Endeavor Society, will be in Lancaster next Sunday and will conduct the Young People's meeting at the regular hour. The young people of the other churches in town will be invited to hear Mr. Little and it is hoped that a great union meeting of the young people of the town and community will be the result. Mr. Little has the reputation of being a mighty big little man, enthusiastic and interesting. All who can should hear and meet him.

Paint Lick Defeats

Lancaster All Stars.

Capt. Miller's All Stars loose benefit game by lopsided score of 21-0, in the game between Paint Lick and the Lancaster All Stars at Paint Lick on last Friday 20th. The All Stars met with overwhelming defeat, as stated above, by a team composed of four veteran and five high school boys, the Vets with the old reliable Maupin on the firing line felt from the beginning that they would have no cause for worry so breezed thru to victory while the All Stars were kept busy hanging up goose eggs.

Maupin had perfect control and kept the four hits gotten off his delivery well scattered. Hayes on the receiving end had an easy time as none of the visitors seemed to care to test his throwing arm. Duerson played a nice game at first as did Kuhlman at short. The brilliant plays were made at the hot corner by the hard hitting Clark. Clark's playing and hitting were the outstanding features of the game. He started the fray with a home run and then contributed a triple two doubles and a single in six attempts. Kuhlman at short also cut in with four safty's ranging from singles to a triple.

The All Stars played very erratic afield and were handicapped in the pitching department, also were without the services of their star first baseman. The catching was well taken care of by Mr. R. Lackey formerly with Paint Lick Club and it was noted he can still throw some to second.

Paint Lick started off with two

The celebration was planned as a surprise to Mrs. Land and, as is seldom the case, was a complete one, she not getting "on the inside" until all the guests were on the premises. A sumptuous feast of good things including ice cream was enjoyed and a delightful day was spent.

Best Grades Really Cheapest.

The purchase of a cheap grade of goods for any serious use, is very poor economy. Such goods soon give way, and the service they render, while they do last, is not satisfactory. To obtain a given amount of service one will spend more money on articles of cheap grade than upon those that are better. The obtaining of the same amount of pleasure and satisfaction from the use of a cheap thing and a good one is an impossibility.

Sweetness of Spring Air.

The soft sound of water moving among thousands of grass blades is to the hearing as the sweetness of spring air to the scent. It is so faint and so diffused that the exact spot whence it issues cannot be discerned, yet it is distinct, and my footsteps are slower as I listen. Yonder, in the corners of the mead, the atmosphere is full of some ethereal vapor. The sunshine stays in the air there as if the green hedges held the wind from brushing it away.—Richard Jeffries.

MORE DISTRESSING

Are Conditions in Starving China.

So terrible has been the drought and famine and continual suffering of the people of China that the next generation in the North Central provinces will be of smaller stature and will lack the splendid physique of the present generation. This is the prediction of Elwood S. Brown, representing the Y. M. C. A., who sailed on the steamer Olympic to help work out a world's play program at the International Olympic Congress at Lausanne, Switzerland.

"I was in the province of Chihli in March," he said, "and the whole country was dry and barren. This is the region in which the present crops have failed through continued drought, making it necessary for at least 5,000,000 of the inhabitants to be cared for until August by America's bounty, if they are to survive the famine."

"The people of the famine-stricken provinces are the finest physically in all China. But the famine is breeding a generation that will be smaller in stature and of weakened vitality. Many of the children show not only the results of stunted growth but of softened bones and of a gradual wasting away from which there is little hope of their complete recovery, even with the return of normal conditions."

In order to speed the raising of funds, all the churches, missionary societies and church women's organizations will push the sale of China Life Saving Stamps, the week of May 23 to May 29.

More than 1,000,000 of these stamps are expected to be sold in Kentucky. In Louisville women will be stationed in fifty booths in business houses and public buildings selling the little seals that make life possible to the millions of famished persons.

The slogan of the campaign will be:

Three cents to save a life a day, 25 cents to save a life a week, one dollar to save a life a month, 5 dollars to save a family until harvest.

The total amount subscribed to this fund from Garrard county up to this week is $375.75 and the individual list is as follows:
